qualified success. At least, that is what the bankers who have given up so much of their time in the Liberty loan campaign predict they will be able to announce to the Government, for in their bones they feel, as one banker said yesterday, that the whole amount will be more than taken, even though a substantial proportion of the subscriptions may be credited to the financial institutions and big banking Bankers, however, are vastly ouraged with the response from the public for the reason that the pub-lic never before has been called upon to participate in such a financing, and because so many persons in the coun-try who never before believed they could put any of their money in an insmall incomes something may be saved for investment purposes and that there are ways of financing in-vestments without paying over in a lump sum the amount of the principal

Mr. Orton's garbacking of the United States and the den measures 60 by 120 feet, and is those buyers who naver before have owned such a thing as a certificate representing a partnership in an inerest returning investment not only ernment bonds but by degrees will save money to invest in high class mortgage issues which may now be had on the bargain counter. Bonds of the best companies are selling at of the best companies are selling at remarkably low prices—prices which naturally must enhance in market the way and when the world again re-turns to the paths of peace. In the meantime the buyer at prevailing levels will receive a most attractive return from his investment, as our first class mortgage issues do not represent the sort of companies which default on their interest. Railroad bonds are attractive at ruling prices particularly the bonds of some of the reorganized properties.

New York City Bonds The attention given to the Liberty loan almost to the total exclusion of ation on municipal bonds are reflect-ed in the present price of New York city bonds, now selling at the low points of the year. No one doubts the intrinsic value of a bond of this municipality and the ability of the city of meet its obligations under conditions of the worst sort, and it therefore is not improbable that with the Liberty lean financing out of the way idle money will find its way into New York's attractive issues, which may be bought to yield for the 44's about 4.25 per cent, for the 44's about 4.35 per cent, or the 44's about 4.05 per cent. One remarkable feature of the resent remarkable cotton marketa market that has not been duplicated in height of quotations or bulk of turnover since civil war days-is that it is a battle between the cotton men themselves rather than a give and take engagement between the cotton men on one side and the speculative public on the other. Cotton futures touched 25 cents in New York yesterday. erday, a price unthought of a year or even six months ago. This represents an advance of approximately $10 a bale in the last two days. Most of the bidding has been by men of the trade who represent mills and who expect to take the cotton off the market. Their tremendous demand for the staple, particularly for huge Government orders; their knowledge that the existing supply is small; that the next crop is backward and short, and that stocks abroad are small, too, has led to prices which will leave the South rolling in wealth. Cotton today in view of all the ex-lating circumstances is worth 25 cents

Gossip in cotton circles yesterday suggested that in addition to heavy domestic buying large orders had been executed for foreign account, while it was said that interests known to have acted for Germany and Austria before the war again were active purchasers of the staple. And the question was asked if the movement might not foreshadow an earlier peace than generally looked for. It is estimated that the central powers by Justice Stafford in the will need between 10,000,000 and II.000,000 bales of cotton after the war. The whole American crop is not expected greatly to exceed these figures. America produces 50 per cent of the world's supply. Returns made in each suit.
